

BRITISH REPULSE GERMAN ARMORED ATTACK

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie

(Substituting for DeWitt MacKenzie)
REPORTS ARE MAKING THE ROUNDS that Tojo is in a serious political situation, with Japanese navy men blaming him for
the recent beating off Saipan.
The story is that he may resign in favor of an admiral who will re-
establish the strength of such out-casted as remain to Japan, instead of sitting idly by while American forces advance against unsupported island garrisons.

Other unverified reports say Japan is desirous of establishing a new government which, at the right
moment, can seek peace.

People who expect any such easy
out in the Japanese war may as well come awake now.

Just who is going to force Tojo
out remains a mystery. He, and that means he and the 7,000,000-man
army, which is chalking up victories
in China which could prolong the war for years, still has the emperor
under his thumb. There is none of
the power from above which would
be necessary for his ouster.

If the army resents what has happened to Pacific garrisons, it is directed at the navy which left
them unsupported, not to Tojo.

And even if by some quirk of Japanese "gunpoint" politics he
were forced out, there is no reason to believe it would ease the Allied situation. Instead, a surface view indicates it might become worse. In spite of the China situation, we are doing all right against Japan. The Japanese Pacific defense has been
so thin, so inept, that any change
would probably improve it.

Japanese failure to reinforce her
Pacific defenses seems to mean,
unless her ship shortage is greater
than we know, that her whole
strategy is to delay us until she is set for a last-ditch fight in China
and the home islands.

She is really established in China,
holding vast strategic areas and extending them. She is supported in these occupied areas by a large
although by no means major portion of the native population, which has actually contributed many fighting men. She has an industrial empire in Manchuria only slightly, if any, less important than Japan itself.

There is no indication that Japan
intends to run before the decisive battle is joined. Rather, every battle she has fought indicates she will fight to the last man and last mile. In fact, that's what the Allies
want, for she needs a terrible beating.

ENEMY FLEES INTO MINSK BEFORE REDS

Demoralized Germans In City Threatened By Flanking Movement

(By Associated Press)
MOSCOW, July 1.—Front dispatches said today that remnants
of a demoralized German army are pouring into Minsk, now outflanked
from the northwest, and that the roar of battle is echoing through
the city's outskirts.
(Russian troops have surrounded Minsk and taken possession of the leading rail and road routes leading to Warsaw from the White Russian capital, the British radio said today.)

Stom troops and the Gestapo
were reported trying to create some kind of order out of the battered,
frightened Nazi legions defending
the capital of White Russia, now Hitler's most important bastion on his eastern front.

Three Soviet armies converged
rapidly upon Minsk from the northwest, east and southeast. Gen.
Ivan Cherniakhovsky's Third army
under his thumb. There is none of
the power from above which would
be necessary for his ouster.

The army paper Red Star revealed the main crossing was made
over a bridge which guerrillas held
in a pitched battle until Red army
troops arrived.

City Outflanked
The Red Star dispatch said Soviet cavalry moved through the forests north of Minsk and out-
flanked the city from the northwest.

Correspondents reported hundreds of demoralized Germans surrendering before they reached the city.

Welcome To Greet Dewey On Arrival Home from Chicago

BY WILLIAM W. TYLER

EN ROUTE TO ALBANY WITH DEWEY, July 1.—Thomas E. Dewey
nearly home today with the third presidential nomination won by a New York governor in 16 years and the foundation of a national campaign organization already well
cemented.

Rolling eastward from Chicago,
where the Republicans nominated
him Wednesday, the 42-year-old governor looked forward to a public
reception in the massive old capitol
from which Democrats drew their 1928 and 1932 candidates, Alfred
E. Smith and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Dewey said he had no plans beyond the "mountain of work" he expects to find on his Albany assault.

The governor was cheered aboard
his train by hundreds of Chicago
well-wishers late yesterday. Subsequently he shook hands, signed autographs and exchanged banter
with crowds during brief stops enroute.

Bede him at each stop was Mrs.
Dewey, who drew her own share of
applause and the admiration of one Elkhart, Ind., feminine enthusiast
who shouted to Dewey, "We like
your wife."

"I'm glad you agree with me,"
the governor shot back.

Others in the Dewey party included J. Russell Sprague, New York Republican national committee man, State Chairman Edwin
F. Jaekle and Herbert A. Brownell, elected national Republican chairman yesterday to direct Dewey's
campaign.

Between station stops, the governor conferred with Brownell on
campaign policy and organization,
which the new chairman said will
emphasize nation-wide party representation.

Brownell told a train news conference the national committee was
"very enthusiastic" about officers
elected yesterday and added "the party organization seems to be placed on a nation-wide basis with
all shades of thought represented."

The same principle will be followed in the selection of a national executive committee to be named
later, Brownell said.

84 E' BOND SALES MADE ON FRIDAY

Eighty-four E-bond sales yesterday, totaling $4,050, brought the sale of that denomination of War
Loan bonds thus far to $198,490.25.
The amount of War Loan bonds
sold in the city has reached $1-$64,771.25. Figures today showed an increase of $4,590 in total sales
over the previous day's amount.

Ohio Farmers Enjoying Fine Threshing Weather

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, July 1.—In "perfect
threshing weather" Ohio's 1944
wheat crop is going to grain elevators five to seven days ahead of the average year, Ohio State university
crop experts said today.

They explained that the early
maturity was due to unseasonably
hot weather in May and June.
Grain elevator operators at Findlay reported receiving the first of the winter wheat 10 days earlier
than usual.

A. J. Patch, agricultural editor at Ohio State university said use of a combine, which thrashes wheats as it is cut, also has been a factor in sending grain to elevators earlier in recent years.

LIEUT. STUART WISE KILLED IN FRANCE

Former Salem Boy Loses Life In Normandy Bat- tle June 14

Word was received yesterday afternoon from the War department
by Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Wise
of Fifth ave., Youngstown, formerly
of Salem, that their son, Lieut.
Stuart F. Wise, 22, was killed in action in Normandy June 14. Details
were not revealed.

Lieut. Wise was among the first
to invade the beachhead sector
where he was stationed when killed.
The last word his parents received
from him was written from France
the day before his death.

Lieut. Wise, son of Francis J. and Gladys M. Wise, was born in February, 1922, in East Liverpool. His parents moved to Salem about 12
years ago and lived here until a year ago when they went to Youngstown, where the father is employed by The Vinciguerra.

He attended Salem public schools
and graduated from Salem High school in 1940. During his high school career he was half-back on the football squad two years. He attended Mount Union college one term and later worked at the Mullins Mfg. Corp. plant and at the Ravenna ordnance plant.

Entering the service in October
1942, Wise received basic training
in the engineers corps at Fort Leavenworth, Mo., and was assigned to officer candidate school
at Fort Belvoir, a receiving his commission there in June, 1943.

After his graduation he was sent to Plattsburg, N. Y., and then reassigned to Fort Belvoir for another
training course in heavy equipment.
He went to North Africa in October, 1943, and last January was sent to England.

Surviving are his parents; his wife, the former Helen Lee Huff of Grafton, W. Va., who makes her home with his parents in Youngstown; two brothers, Raymond and Robert, and a sister, Joann, at home; his grandmothers, Mrs. Jessie Wise of East Liverpool, and Mrs. Stuart Rowley of Wellsville.

C. TED BOWLING DIES IN PACIFIC

Canfield Naval Officer, Formerly of Salem, Is Killed In Action

Petty Officer C. Theodore Bowling, 26, of Canfield, formerly of Salem, died June 27 in Honolulu of multiple wounds received in action
somewhere in the Pacific area according to word received yesterday
by his wife, Mrs. Fay Bowling of Canfield.

Bowling graduated from Salem
High school in 1936 after which his family moved to Alliance and later
to Lisbon. They made their home in Canfield three years ago. He attended Purdue university.

Following his enlistment in the Seabees in October, he was sent overseas in April, just a few days
before his three months old son, C.
Theodore Bowling, Jr., was born.
His wife, a former Bethlehem, Pa.,
girl, has been living in Canfield
since his enlistment.

For three years, he was associated in business with his father,
W. S. Bowling, as a mechanical engineer in the W. S. Bowling Sales
and Engineering Co. of Canfield.

Surviving, besides his wife, father
and son are his mother, Mrs. W. S.
Bowling of Chicago; two brothers,
Jack, now serving with the Army,
and William, at home.

Japs Resist Yanks Bitterly On Saipan; American Casualties To Date 9,752

Yanks Punch On In Bat- tle Which Is Costlier Than Tarawa

(By Associated Press)
U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEAD-QUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, July 1.—
American forces punched through intensified Japanese resistance today on Saipan island, already the Pacific war's bloodiest battlefield
with 9,752 American dead, wounded
and missing.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced Friday that casualties for the first two weeks were: Dead
1,474; wounded, 7,400; missing, 78.
Japanese losses were several times
higher—4,951 bodies have been buried—but the defenders were fighting
with increased tenacity.

New gains were reported in the center of the battle line and on the eastern flank as American forces
pushed through extremely difficult terrain.

From Saipan's D-day, June 14
through last Wednesday, American
losses far exceeded the bitter Ta-
rawa fight or the six-month Guadalcanal campaign.

The Marine assault force, as at Tarawa, bore the heaviest loss on Saipan—1,289 killed in action; 6,377
wounded; 128 missing.

The Army took 185 dead; 1,023
wounded; 51 missing.

Tarawa—until now the costliest
victory in Marine corps history—
claimed 1,025 dead and 2,557 wounded. Guadalcanal totalled 3,767.

REV. KELLEY DIES AT WINONA TODAY

Rev. O. A. Kelley, 71, retired pastor of the Winona Methodist church
died at 8 a. m. today at his home
in Winona.

Born Nov. 5, 1872, in West Virginia, he formerly held pastorates
at Winterville, O., and Damascus.
Surviving are his wife, Mabel;
three daughters, Mrs. William Sawyers of Patchogue, N. Y., Miss Frances Kelley of New York City
and Mrs. H. H. Root of Dorset, O.

Two sons, H. C. Kelley of Canton
and Richard of Akron; and two brothers, F. F. Kelley of Fleming, W. Va., and W. F. Kelley of Ripley, W. Va.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

SEBRING BOY, 12, DROWNS IN LAKE

SEBRING, July 1.—William G.
Gottschall, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs.
George F. Gottschall, 104 Ken-
ucky ave., drowned at 4 p. m.
yesterday while he and a brother,
Ted, and several playmates were trying to ride on a raft in Stockers
lake, two miles east of Alliance.

The drowned lad's brother told firemen and rescue workers that
the boys were riding on a raft about 15 feet from shore when his brother
became frightened and jumped off
to return to shore. Unable to swim,
he drowned in spite of efforts by
the others to save him.

Ted told workers his brother had been able to mount his shoulders
once but slipped back into the water
and didn't come up.

Sebring and Alliance firemen
dragged the lake and found the body at 5:35 p. m. Artificial respiration was administered for nearly
an hour unsuccessfully.

Surviving, besides the parents and the brother, are a sister, Ellen, and
a grandmother, Mrs. Ida Gottschall
of Sebring.

Funeral service will be held at 2
p. m. Monday in the Moosman funeral home. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery. Calling hours will be observed at the funeral home
Sunday afternoon and evening.

Enemy Apparently Chan- ging Tactics of Island Withdrawals

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 1.—The Japanese seem to have decided to fight harder — to have abandoned the tactics used in some instances or withdrawing from island
bases with only minor resistance, or
no resistance at all.

This is demonstrated emphatically
in the disclosure by Adm. Chester
W. Nimitz, Pacific fleet commander-in-chief, that 9,752 American troops have become casualties of war as a result of the enemy stand
on Saipan.

And less than half that 72-square
mile island in the western Pacific Marianas group is in American hands. Fighting—hard fighting—
continues through the sugar cane
fields and along the rolling hills of Saipan. Roughly the American front line now divides the island in half
at the town of Garapan—administrative center. Street fighting has been seen there as the Japanese
battle bitterly to stay the American advance.

Resistance Stiffens
It is to the north that some even harder fighting may come. The Japanese have held Saipan for many years. In that time they have prepared emplacements on a defense
positions that will be hard to take.
In many places they are using caves in the hills as points from which to oppose the advance.

They can be expected to fight to the last. To lose the island—as they ultimately will — opens the Philippines, and more important,
the Japanese homeland to attack
by bombers based in the Marianas.

It will open also the way for easier conquest of other islands in the Pacific groups dominated by the Japanese. It will permit even harder assaults on Japan's already advancing.

Big Artillery Barrage Ends Nazi Threat

By WES GALLAGHER

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, July 1.—
A thundering night-long British barrage smashed back an armored spearhead attempting to crash into the Odon river bridgehead menacing Caen, front line dispatches from Normandy reported today as the Nazi command threw elements of seven tank divisions into the furious battle.

Massed artillery fire broke up the assault on the west flank of the Odon river corridor just as it started.
The Germans renewed their stabs this morning, the dispatches said, with an attack on the British left flank at Marcelet, west of Caen. Four Nazi Mark IV tanks were wrecked, raising the toll taken by British forces alone to 146 since D-Day.

On all sectors in Normandy 326 enemy tanks have been destroyed or disabled.

MASON WICK DIES IN CITY HOSPITAL

Owner of Silver Mfg. Co. Was Ill Five Months; Funeral Monday

E. Mason Wick, 73, of 707 S.
Ellsworth ave., owner of the Silver
Mfg. Co., died at 6 p. m. yesterday in Salem City hospital, where he had been a patient for the last three weeks. He had been in ill health since February.

The son of Ralph J. and Albina
Wick, Mr. Wick was born in Cleveland Aug. 8, 1870, and spent practically his entire life in Youngstown. He purchased the Silver firm here 14 years ago, at the death of A. O. Silver, and had managed the business since that time, making his home in Youngstown until a year ago when the family moved to Salem.

Mr. Wick, a member of the Presbyterian church of Youngstown, was a member of the Salem Rotary club. He was active in Boy Scout work in Youngstown for many years, and had been a Rotarian in that city.

Surviving, besides his wife, Jane
T. Wick, are a son, Francis Mason
Wick, serving with the Coast Guard
at St. Augustine, Fla.; and a daughter, Ensign Janie Wick, stationed
with the WAVES in Tillamook, Ore.

Funeral service will be held at 4
p. m. Monday at the Ory funeral home in Youngstown in charge of Dr. Talbot, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Interment will be in Oakhill cemetery. Friends are asked to omit flowers.

Holiday Travelers Are Warned by ODT

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 1.—Holiday
travelers making non-essential
pleasure trips may run into unpleasant experiences, warns Col. J.
Monroe Johnson, director of the Office of Defense Transportation.

"There is no room today on the country's trains or intercity bus
lines" for such travelers, he asserted.

To persons failing to heed the agency's request, he said: "You may be left stranded and unable to return when you wish; you will very likely be compelled to stand for hours in crowded cars, be unable to find eating facilities, or you may even be evicted from the space assigned and purchased if your space
is required for (war) casualties."

Despite repeated government
pleas urging the public to stay home, railroad officials predicted a 10 per cent increase in travel over
last year when records were shattered.

The exodus of holiday vacationers
was underway today and was expected to reach its peak tomorrow.

NEW HORIZONS

Gov. Dewey has a post-war plan that is different. Its punch is not in theories and statistics, but in the infinite possibilities of national unity.

As expressed in his public statements, including his acceptance speech in Chicago Wednesday night, and also as expressed in his acts as governor of New York, it is a plan to minimize friction between factions. He does not believe it is foreordained that management and labor must quarrel about their common problems. He does not believe it is politically proper for government to contribute to the sources of misunderstanding. He denies that public officials have any right to spend public money and time in the interests of anything but the public interest.

Gov. Dewey's personal convictions and the principles of the party platform he accepted by becoming Republican nominee for president are all in the same direction—toward a more prosperous nation through unity of effort. In contrast with New Deal doctrine, he believes the greatest opportunities are still ahead; he refuses to believe, as so many spokesmen for the New Deal preach, that the United States is now in its declining days—a worked-out economy that must be dosed with patent medicine.

His campaign theme will be confidence in the future of the nation—the confidence which gives American men the spirit to fight a winning war, the confidence which always has enabled young men to do what old and cynical men despair of doing. The opportunity to revive the people's faith has been given by good fortune to a man who built his public career on opposition to cynicism—first in the corrupt atmosphere of organized crime in New York City, then in the tired atmosphere of a state capital dominated so long by one party that voters almost had given up hope of a change.

CONTEST FOR THE VICE PRESIDENCY

Gov. Bricker, as the Republican party's exceptionally strong vice presidential candidate, will open the weakness of his Democratic counterpart, who is expected to be Henry A. Wallace. Whereas Gov. Bricker had a valid claim to his party's nomination for president and would have been given the nomination, except for circumstances which made Gov. Dewey the head of the ticket, instead, Mr. Wallace never has had the confidence of the Democratic party as a whole.

He came into official life as an appointee and has remained there as a protégé of Mr. Roosevelt. The prospect that his renomination may be forced on the Democratic convention again this year is a point of bitter contention within the party. They further prospect that he might be renominated and called on to serve as chief executive, in the event of President Roosevelt's reelection after 11 arduous years, is a matter of public concern.

The inevitable comparison between Mr. Wallace and Gov. Bricker in the campaign would be invasions—and damaging to Mr. Wallace. While the latter has not served in the pattern of obscurity which sometimes has surrounded the vice presidency, he has been strictly a minor figure, sometimes at odds with his chief and never in a position to add anything to party leadership. Mr. Bricker, it goes without saying, would be no Throbbottom if the Republicans won the election. He holds political prestige and confidence in his own right. He would restore the vice presidency to something like the respect it commanded in the days when vice presidents were expected to become presidents.

OPA CEILING

It is likely that constant attention to ceilings might have Freudian results and interesting to speculate on the evidence supplied when the temperature hit 110 in the OPA office in Cleveland the other afternoon.

At that point, it seems, the head of the OPA office, or perhaps the employees, decided it was time to close up shop and go home. Apparently, 110 represented a temperature ceiling to these public employees—an arbitrary limit. Where others panted, loosened their collars, fluffed their skirts and said, "Gosh it's hot," the OPA mind concluded 110 was the limit.

We shall ignore the suspicion that this is what bureaucracy leads to and shall say nothing about regulation, which defines limits on every detail of existence, up to and including bearable temperatures. But it is a good thing, is it not, that whatever brought about the OPA decision to go home when the temperature hit 110 did not bring it about everywhere? The services of one OPA office could be spared for an afternoon, but not the services of the host of activities on which OPA prescribes ceilings, ranging above and below 110.

WAR NEWS

If newspapers were to make an honest confession, they'd admit World War II is too big to handle. The more global it becomes, the more aware newspapers are made of limitations on their perspective and their space.

For example, a young officer who has been treading on the heels of the retreating Germans in Italy points out that the war there—still as important to the men fighting in it as it ever was—now has been crowded off the front page. Currently, the front page belongs to the fighting men in Normandy and the Central Pacific. The news from other theaters, where men are doing heroic deeds, sweating it out and fighting it out is secondary. News interest is like candlelight in a dark and drafty room; it flickers and lights one object, then another, but none of them clearly.

The half-finished campaign seems less newsworthy than the one newly begun. It seems more important when three enemy vessels are destroyed in one attack than when 13 are reported destroyed over a period of days. The first air raid is a sensation, but the 25th, which may be vastly larger, is only more of the same. Invasion of Normandy whets the appetite for invasion of some other area. What's the news today? Oh, nothing special. Just the war.

That's all. Just the war that has grown so tremendous it only can be looked at hastily, one face at a time.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, July 2

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds indications of many trivial and adverse annoyances with all affected and unfruitful excepting as it relates to spiritual, intellectual or artistic or affectional affiliations and pursuits. Some brilliant stroke in connection with an uncommon or unique idea of production might prove exceptionally successful. Social, and domestic affairs should be lively, but shun extravagance and show, maintaining gracious hospitality.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have a successful and profitable year by adopting a quick and ingenious insight into certain uncommon or perhaps unorthodox situations, worked out with novel and original tactics. All literary, professional, artistic and cultural plans should flourish, and social or romantic associations should be pleasant provided they are not lavish or over indulged.

A child born on this day may have some unusual talents of creative artistic or intellectual phases, seeking expression in unusual or exceptional skills.

For Monday, July 3

Monday's astrological forecast shows an important opening for the attainment of some major objective, which might have some public or community connotations. In any case there are public angles which may promise close co-operation from this or other major organizations, in which there are secret agreements. It would be well to be prudent in such tacit understandings, as there may be peculiar angles.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for an unusual opportunity for making a worthwhile connection with large interests, possibly public, community or fraternal. Perhaps diplomatic or political, but in all undercover agreements it is well to be alert to hidden factors, surprising and disruptive. Beware suspicious entanglements, financially risky or otherwise undermining.

A child born on this day may be ambitious, talented, ingenious, inspirational and may win some public or fraternal acclaim. It may, however, be easily deceived or imposed upon.

We must make it possible for all Americans to accumulate reserves for business expansion and to make jobs, for the crux of our whole economy is employment opportunities for all our people.—Sen. George of Georgia.

The Yanks have found that the German can be killed and he can be captured. That's all they wanted to know.—Lt. G. K. Hodenfield, in France.

It might be interesting to know what Hitler's astrologer is putting out these days.

Four years ago Thomas E. Dewey was running for the nomination for President, while this year the nomination ran for him.

GETTING THE RANGE!

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Self-Dosing Is Dangerous

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THERE IS no more pernicious and dangerous practice than the regular taking of some kind of drug. Even if you think you know what the drug is, it is bad. I had charge of a gentleman once who had been assured he was dying of heart failure on account of the bluish discoloration of his skin. After considerable work on him we found this discoloration was caused by the formation of a sulphur compound in his blood, and behind this was his habit of going across the street from his office every day to get something for a headache he was afraid he was going to have.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

The headache preventive compound he took had a well-known name and any doctor would have assured him it was relatively harmless, but in his case it began to do something queer in his intestines and released a sulphur compound which, absorbed in his blood, made him feel and look like the dickens. He recovered eventually, but he had quite an unhappy time of it.

Indiscriminate Self-dosing

Doctors are thought to be old fogies and scare-heads, just activated by jealousy, if they object to this habit of regular or indiscriminate self-dosing. But there is a reason for their objections. Even, as I say, if you think you know what you are taking something may go wrong. And half the time you can't tell from the label on the bottle what is inside it.

Nowadays everybody who puts a medicine before the public thinks he has to have some fancy name for it. It is impossible for a doctor even to remember what all of them are.

Chronic dosing is especially likely to become a habit with people of nervous temperament. They need something to calm them down, to keep their brains from racing round and round, to stop headaches and they get so they take their medicine on the slightest provocation. They usually take a preparation containing bromides. They are not taking dope, they will tell you, and nothing that is habit forming and nothing that could do any harm.

Cause Bodily Upsets

Well, it so happens that bromides taken regularly in this way can result in all sorts of bodily upsets. I have before me the report of a man who had been taking migraine headache remedy which contained "nothing but bromides." He was picked up on the street in a confused mental state and his heart, skin, liver and nervous system were filled with a diseased cell infiltration of bromide origin. The lesson is that any medication taken regularly over a long period of time may turn on you.

Two experiences are fresh in the memories of any doctor who was so unfortunate as to have one of the patients. One was with cinchon which was touted as a great remedy for arthritis. Well, arthritis or not it gave people cirrhosis of the liver and many died of it.

Another was an apparently infallible headache remedy named amino-pyrene, the names of which somehow caught the popular fancy both of doctors and the public generally. It was a good headache remedy all right, but it had not been subjected to sufficient animal experiment before it was offered for general use. The tragic consequence was that it was found to produce in some individuals a fatal destruction of blood cells. Both cinchon and the amino-pyrene preparations have been removed from distribution—so those dangers are over, but the lesson remains.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

G. L.:—While everyone knows that a high body temperature is a danger sign, we hear little about low body temperature. Is it good or bad? What about a person whose normal temperature is 98 and many times registers less than 97?

Answer: Physicians do not attach much significance to low body temperature. There is no irrevocable law that decrees a human body temperature must be exactly 98.6 F. I presume at least 5 per cent of the human race carry a daily temperature of 98, or slightly under. And they do not lack vigor or health. The only definite condition mentioned in text books on diagnosis as being associated with low body temperature is insufficient thyroid.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendenning has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendenning, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Named To Oberlin Post

OBERLIN, July 1.—Harold S. Wood, head of the department of physical education at Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn., today was named vice president of Oberlin college, succeeding Dr. W. F. Bohn, who will retire in August after 39 years service.

What can you say to a wounded soldier?

Never mind the sympathy—he doesn't want it! In his mind, he did his duty, and part of his duty was stopping an enemy bullet.

You have a duty, too, in this war. Part of your duty is to buy War Bonds with every dime and dollar you can.

So simply say "thanks" to a wounded soldier, by buying your full share of War Bonds in the Fifth War Loan. Don't expect credit—you can't match his sacrifice by merely lending your money. But don't be ashamed, either—if you've done your duty, you've shown your gratitude—the way he wants you to.

Say "thanks" to every American soldier—double the Bonds you bought before.

had been repainted; the fresh white of the clapboard walls, the turkey-red of the shutters and "trim," the Christmas green of the newly relandscaped grounds made it look like a delectable gift package.

"And just wait, children," beamed Henry. "You'll see the inside."

"Absolutely?"

"Absolutely," chirped Pat. "Ready to receive the lovebirds, Nora, you're blubbing!"

"It's so beautiful," wept Nora, hugging her father and mother. And she dragged her husband off to explore the interior of the house the next day.

"I had plenty, except for Mr. Queen's short tenure, for three hundred years."

Mr. Queen had packed an overnight bag the day before the newlyweds' return and had taken the noon train. Pat said it showed he had "a fine character." Whatever his reason, Ellery returned the day after dark registration, to find his father and laughter in the little house next door, and no sign whatever that it had been known as Calamity House.

"We do want to thank you for giving up the house, Mr. Smith," said Nora.

"That hundred-watt look is my reward."

"Flatterer!" retorted Nora, and tugged at her starchily little apron.

"I look a sight—"

"For alling eyes. Where's the happy bridegroom?"

"Jim's down at the railroad sta-lion picking his things up. Before he came back from his apartment in New York he packed his books and clothes and things and shipped them to Wrightsville, care of General Delivery, and they've been held in the baggage room ever since. Here he is! Jim, did you get everything?"

Jim waved from Ed Hotchkiss's car which was heaped with suitcases, nailed boxes, and a wardrobe trunk. Ed and Jim carried them into the house.

Ellery remarked how fit Jim looked, and Jim with a friendly handclasp thanked him for "being so decent about moving out." Nora wanted Mr. "Smith" to stay for the "Gus" business and he'd take advantage of that invitation when Nora and Jim weren't so busy getting settled; and he left.

The last thing "the famous author" saw was Jim and Nora in each other's arms.

Mr. Queen grinned. If the bride's house had a calamity within its walls, it was hidden superlatively well.

Ellery attacked his novel with energy. Except for mealtimes, he remained in his quarters on the top floor, the whole of which Hermyn had placed at his disposal. Hermyn, Pat, and Ludie could hear his portable clacking away until immoral hours. Ed, Nora, and Nora, but they seemed happy.

At the bank Jim had found waiting for him a private office with a new oak desk and a bronze plaque.

Fog-Prowling U.S. Task Force Runs Over Jap Fishing Fleet

BY ORMAN BELL
Associated Press Foreign Staff

WITH A NAVY TASK FORCE IN THE NORTH PACIFIC, June 26— Destroyer Guns of this fog-prowling task force blazed like roaring paths of destruction in a new attack—second in two weeks—on Japan's Kurile islands today.

The targets were enemy ships and the Kurabu-Kaki airdrome at the southern end of Paramushiro Island.

While larger ships bombarded shore installations, destroyers struck at enemy ships and boats between Kurabu and Sullibachi off the eastern Paramushiro coast.

A fishing boat fleet, possibly makeshift for the Suribachi canisteries, was virtually run down by the task force.

This was a direct blow at the major enemy food supply as fish and rice form the principal items of the Japanese diet.

No Ship Damaged

The bombardment lasted nearly 30 minutes but the destroyers were in action much longer—their five-inch guns blazing away in the night at the fishing fleet and other sea-going craft.

There was some return fire from ships and shore. But the strong task force simply brushed aside the opposition of torpedo boats or other small war vessels and vanished into the fog as suddenly as it had appeared. No ship of the force was damaged.

ported "dead in the water," presumably sinking.

Runover Fishing Fleet

Then the heavier guns of the main force opened their bombardment. It developed into a wild flame spouting din.

The bombardment hardly finished when the warning came of small craft—"many of them" on all sides. The task force was running right over the fishing fleet.

It must have been a terrifying experience for the superstitious Japanese fishermen.

They have been told the spirits of their soldiers killed on Attu haunt the North Pacific.

Now they saw other ghosts, immense and awful, moving upon them out of the fog—roaring, blazing and streaking the sea with weird, phosphorescent waves.

The frightened fishermen shut off the motors of their boats, probably large Sampan type craft with Diesel engines, and tried to drive unobserved through the task force.

The larger ships left the hunting job to the Japanese. The swift, deadly "cans" split the night again and again with their guns.

The fishing boats were too small to see unless very close, and how many were sunk by instrument-driven gunnery was unknown. But Adm. Smith, in congratulating his men, said there probably would be nothing left of Paramushiro for some time.

So Mr. Queen decided that he would not let his House be buried beyond resurrection. He began to make plans to invent a crime in his novel, since life was so uncooperative.

October 29 came and went, and with it the published figures of the Federal draft lottery. Jim Haigh and Carter Bradford drew high order-numbers. Mr. Queen was observed to drop in at the Hollis Hotel early on the morning of the thirtieth for a New York newspaper, upon reading which he was seen by Mark Doodle's son Grover to shrug and toss the paper away.

Hallowe'en was mad. People on the Hill answered mysterious doorbells all day. Menacing signs in colored chalk appeared on pavements. As evening came on, costumed gnomes began to flit about town, their faces painted and their arms flapping. And many of them went to bed with tingling bottoms.

Mr. Queen strolled about the neighborhood before dinner wishing he were young again so that he, too, might enjoy Hallowe'en. On his way back to the Wright house, he noticed the faint light of a next door was lit up; and on impulse he went up the walk and rang his excorbell.

But it was Pat, not Nora, who answered the door.

"Thought you'd run out on me," said Pat. "We never see you any more." Then she announced, "It's the famous author, Nora!"

U. S. Public Debt Now Is Two Hundred Billion

WASHINGTON, July 1. — The public debt has passed the $200,000,000 mark. The Treasury's daily statement for the close of business Wednesday, issued today, reported the gross public debt, including guaranteed obligations of the government at $200,230,958,523.06.

The public debt has been increasing sharply recently, reflecting war bond sales in the Fifth War Loan drive. Each bond sale automatically increases the debt.

Since the War of 1861 was opened June 12, the public debt has increased more than $11,000,000,000.

MUNDERSBOLT pilot Lt. Col. Francis S. Gabreski, Oil City, Pa., has just downed a Messerschmitt over France, bringing his total score of Axis aircraft destroyed in the air to 27. This ties him with Maj. Robert Johnson for top honors in the European theatre.

Ensign And Mrs. Shallenberg Visiting Here After Marriage

Ensign and Mrs. Robert L. Shallenberg, whose wedding was an event of Saturday, June 24, in the chapel at Cornell university, are guests at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shallenberg, Pigeon rd.

The former Miss Janice Eileen Stockburger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Stockburger of Elmwood Park, Ill., and Ensign Shallenberg, who has been studying at Cornell university, were united in marriage by Rev. A. H. Boutwell, Baptist pastor, in the campus chapel.

The candlelight ceremony was performed at 8 p. m. before an altar banked with white gladioli and white roses, palms and ferns, and lighted by white tapers in two 12-branch candelabra.

Miss Helen Nickelson of Oak Park, Ill., maid of honor and Miss

Marjorie Shallenberg, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid were attendants. Lieut. Lowell Shallenberg, of Ann Arbor, Mich., brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Ensigns Richard Stevens, Pierson Keating, Ed Conrad and J. E. Henchen.

A program of organ music and the traditional wedding music were played by Prof. Gore of the university staff. Ensign R. C. McNabb sang "I Love You Truly" and "At Dawning".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory satin gown with long train, satin bodice and full net skirt, trimmed with satin bow-knots. The bodice was fashioned with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves edged in net. Her veil was arranged in a half-hat of seed pearls and orange blossoms. She wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom, and carried a bouquet of white roses, centered with a white orchid.

Will Reside at Raleigh
The maid of honor wore a white satin and net dress and carried a French bouquet of American beauty roses and wore a gardenia in her hair. Miss Shallenberg wore a frock of white sharkskin and net, fashioned with full skirt and fitted waist. She wore a gardenia in her hair and carried a French bouquet of American beauty roses.

Mrs. Shallenberg, mother of the groom, wore a light blue dinner dress with corsage of yellow roses and Mrs. Stockburger was in aqua with corsage of pink roses.

A wedding dinner was held at the College Spa following the ceremony with 20 guests attending. The bride's table was centered with a long bouquet of mixed white flowers and lighted by white tapers in three-branch candelabra. A three tier wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom was cut with a Navy sword.

Following a wedding trip to New York City and Washington, D. C., the couple arrived here for a visit before going to Raleigh, N. C., where they will make their home. He has been assigned as an instructor in Diesel engineering at North Carolina state university.

The bride, a graduate of Painesville, O., schools, Oak Park, Ill., high school, attended Wheaton college, two years and business school. She has been employed as a correspondent for the Encyclopedia Britannica in Chicago.

Ensign Shallenberg, a graduate of Salem high school and the University of Cincinnati, has taken 19 weeks course in diesel engineering at Cornell university, where he led his class. He was employed by the Denning Co. before attending college.

Guests at the wedding were from Salem, Cleveland and Painesville, O., Oak Park, Ill., and Ann Arbor, Mich.

Mrs. Forrest V. McDaniel of Houston, Tex., is visiting at the home of Mrs. H. A. Gross, E. Ninth st.

18 Miners Trapped

HARLAN, Ky., July 1.—Eighteen miners today were reported trapped by fire in a soft coal mine operated at Clover Fork by the Ridge-way Darby Coal Co.

First reports, reaching here by the one telephone line from the mine, gave no details.

THE BONDS YOU BOUGHT HAVE GONE TO WAR—

BUT

The Battle is Bigger than Ever!

You Can't Fail them NOW!

BACK THE 5TH WAR LOAN TO THE LIMIT

REMEMBER the Sicilian invasion? Each mechanized division required 18,000 gallons of gasoline for every hour it was on the move.

Remember the invasion of Italy? The cost to reach the mainland from the time we began the attack in North Africa was 1,800 aircraft lost.

Even when we win, we lose vast stores of guns, planes, tanks and other equipment. For that is the price of victory. The Bonds you bought in the first four War Loan Drives are today's exploding bombs and shells! They can never be used again.

But today the battle is bigger than ever! And that is why you must do MORE than ever in the 5th War Loan.

Our fighting men are ready. They will go anywhere, anytime, anyhow—and bar nothing! For that is the American spirit. Back that spirit NOW . . . and back the 5th War Loan to the limit! It's for Invasion! It's for Victory!

Now is the time! The job is big—and every moment counts. Go to your regular War Bond sales outlet. Buy all you can—and then more! More than you've ever bought before. Invest not only out of current income but out of idle and accumulated funds. This is the biggest job America has ever had to do! Let's show our fighting men we can do it!

OPEN YOUR DOOR AND YOUR HEART TO THE

Victory Volunteers

DURING this drive you may be visited by a volunteer War Bond worker. Open your door and your heart to him (or her). Let him explain the various U. S. Government Bonds available. They are the safest investments in the world. Buy them and keep them . . . and you can face the future with confidence. You will be able to build that home you have dreamed about . . . send your children to college . . . buy the things you've always wanted—create personal security.

JIM'S COP FIRST, 2-0 OVER PAXSON; RECREATIONS WIN

Old Timers Beat Mullins As Paxson Loss Drops Them to Cellar

Utilizing to best advantage three Paxson errors and one hit, Jim's pulled their initial win of the round out of the bag yesterday, 2-0, to boost themselves out the cellar position.

In the opening Class A fray at Centennial yesterday, the Recreations stepped into third place by knocking off Mullins 4-2.

Two early runs, one in the first and another in the second, put the Old Timers in an early lead, which they never relinquished. Before the Mullins outfit could pick up their pair of markers, the Recs had piled two more on their total in the fifth. Mullins scored two in their half of the fifth but couldn't capitalize on several other opportunities to even things.

For their first win of the season Jim's used their one hit from Milt Schaeffer, Paxson's mound-worker, very well. In the fourth inning the hit put a man in scoring position for Jim's with one out. Brown, second baseman, picked out a high pitch and looped it far into center field where it bounded out of the outfielder's glove and the two runs scored.

No other threats from either team came in the two ensuing innings and the fray ended with Jim's on top 2-0. Paxson fell into last place in the league by virtue of the loss, as they have a lesser percentage rating than Jim's.

The games yesterday marked the end of the second round of Class A play with the Salem China champions for both rounds and still unbeaten in 13 games.

Manassa Mauler Knocked Out Willard For Title 25 Years Ago

By DENNIS DALTON
United Press Staff Correspondent

TOLEDO—This July 4 will mark the 25th anniversary of the Jack Dempsey-Jess Willard heavyweight championship bout here, but the question of whether the fight ended in the third or fourth round still is a matter of opinion.

The records show that Dempsey won the title on a technical knockout in the third round but the Manassa Mauler to this day insists it was the fourth because the Pottawatomie Giant failed to answer the bell for that round of their historic battle.

Dempsey, now a lieutenant commander in the U. S. Coast Guard, looks back upon the Toledo fight as the crowning point of his career—a career which made the game a million-dollar business giving employment to thousands of persons.

Expected Hard Fight
Until that warm summer afternoon in the open-air arena, boxing held a limited appeal throughout the nation. There were few states then which permitted bouts to be staged within their borders. Many of the historic matches of the day were held in obscure cities which legalized them temporarily because it meant perhaps a week's unheard-of prosperity for local merchants.

When asked recently whether he had expected Willard to be such an easy victim, the soft-spoken former champion shook his head slowly. "No, I didn't," he said. "Of course, I expected to win, but I felt before the bout that I would really have to fight to take the title."

Arena Jammed
It was the last time all the old-timers attended a heavyweight title bout in force. Such ring immortals as Jack McAuliffe, undefeated lightweight king; Benny Leonard, then lightweight champion; Battling Nelson, Tommy Ryan, Freddy Welsh and Frank Moran were there.

Some 600 newspapermen from foreign countries as well as the major cities of the United States were around the ringside. An estimated 70,000 out-of-towners in the stands.

CHAMPION 3-YEAR-OLD? By Jack Sords

ATHLETICS AFTER FIFTH VICTORY AT LAKE PLACENTIA

Local Hardballers Out To Rebound From Defeat By Carrollton

Salem's Athletics, hoping to rebound from a 4-3 defeat at the hands of Carrollton here Wednesday, will invade Lake Placidia at 2:30 p. m. Sunday for a try at the Lake nine.

The Lakers loom as one of the toughest assignments for Salem so far this year, as the record they boast is an impressive one. Recently, their star hurler, Arch Kelley, downed Waynesburg 8-6 and struck out 15 men doing it.

Against Kelley this week will start the game here this week with Carrollton. Smith has led the locals to all four of their wins and has dropped only two games.

The Lake squad has racked up seven wins in eight games, losing their only fray to the Waynesburg White-Greys in an earlier contest.

Of exceptional aid to both teams will be the Placidia diamond, which is one of the best in this district. Home runs really stack up like homers in the park, which is bordered by an old time wooden fence. The change of atmosphere may prove beneficial to Salem.

Salem plans to start their regular crew with Smith on the mound. The locals have chalked up four wins in seven games.

The regular Placidia infield of Paul Leatherberry on first, Anthony De Nicola on second, Ed Pincal on short and "Chief" Hendrix on third will open with Chuck Boesch, Dean Roof and Jiggs Meese in the outfield.

SPORT CHATTER

NEW YORK, July 1.—Arithmetic lesson, or figures can be misleading but where do they lead? ... Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of the New York State Racing commission, likes to point out that most of the dough that goes through the mutual windows at racetracks finds its way back to the public—less ten per cent. ... He was quoted the other day in a local paper as saying: "When the size of the daily handle is mentioned, I would like to see it recorded this way: Total pool, $2,000,000. State's share, $120,000. Track's share, $80,000. Breakage, $20,000, or whatever it is. Redistributed to the public, $1,780,000." ... Swope then explained the amount of money actually bet and re-bet to make up that two million bucks is roughly about a quarter of the total pool, which would be $500,000.

APPLIED SCIENCE
As this dept. reads those figures, that $220,000 "take" would come out of the $500,000 and thus would amount to 44 per cent of what the public carried into the track. ... Reducing that to more understandable numbers, an "average" fan who laid aside ten bucks to bet on the horses would have the fun of wagering $40 during the afternoon and would be nicked $4.40 by the machines. ... On top of that he'd spend about $1.60 for admission, 65 cents for transportation, a dollar for refreshments and 35 cents for a program and tip sheet. That adds up to $36.00, so the day's entertainment would cost him $8. ... That isn't what we'd call cheap, but it may be okay if you like horses.

SPORTSPURRI
Promoter Max Joss says he's offering Hank Armstrong $10,000 to fight Morris Reif, the Brooklyn Belter, at Abbeys field Aug. 2. ... Old Satch Paige, who can produce a draft card to show he's just 38, could give Washington's Gil Torres an argument about who has the thinnest legs in baseball. Paige builds them up with two pairs of socks.

HERE IS A REAL STOCK FARM OF 160 ACRES PRICED TO SELL!!

This farm is located about seven miles north of Salem and is a real stock farm. The buildings are in excellent condition. Splendid neighborhood. Children hauled to school. Land is in a high state of cultivation. Pasture is watered by never-failing stream. Fruit for home use. Is improved with an extra good house which is modern in every respect. House is nicely planned with a new kitchen with the latest cupboards. Large dining room, living room, nice downstairs bedroom. Beautiful bathroom on the first floor with the very latest case tub and fixtures. Four large bedrooms on the second floor. House is under slate roof. Good bank barn with tight siding, well arranged with large mows and good granary. Water in barn.
Good double-decker chicken house of tile construction and rat-proof. Will carry about 800 layers. Good wagon house, garage, new concrete silo and other necessary outbuildings. On account of the owner's ill health, we are forced to find a buyer at once. For this reason the owner will sacrifice and I am authorized to sell this farm
for only $15,000

AP War Reporter DeLuce Wins Jr. C. of C. Award

CHICAGO, July 1.—Daniel DeLuce, Associated Press war correspondent and Pulitzer prize winner for international reporting in 1943, was hailed last night by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce as "one of America's outstanding young men."

Characterized by Robert McLean, president of the Associated Press and publisher of the Philadelphia Bulletin, as a man of courage and honesty and a writer with "a keen sense of selection," DeLuce was honored by the chamber on the Mutual network broadcast "Freedom of Opportunity."

The chamber's distinguished service medal was awarded to DeLuce by McLean and was accepted in behalf of the noted AP war correspondent by his father, Robert DeLuce of Los Angeles.

land. This provided a dominating position over Japanese-held Territory.

Front dispatches reported the campaign's bitterest fighting around the southern slope of Mt. Tapotchau, commanding peak in the island's center. Bypassed Japanese cave positions were being reduced gradually.

U. S. patrols continued to probe burned Garapan, the island's capital still under naval and artillery bombardment.

The show-down battle for Saipan may erupt above Garapan.

Northward of Garapan, carrier planes and warships hammered Japanese strong points in the Tanapag harbor district.

Aerial and surface bombardment also hit nearby Tinian island. Carrier planes struck at Rota, farther south in the Marianas.

Liberators from the Southwest Pacific raided Yap island for the sixth time in 10 days. Eight of 29 intercepting Zeroes were shot down and 63 tons of bombs unloaded.

battered supply lines between the homeland and enemy held territory to the south.

Saipan is inside the Japanese perimeter of defense. That probably is the key to the whole situation. Military men, among them Lt. Gen. A. Vandegrift, commandant of the Marines, long have predicted that as the inner defenses are reached, Japanese resistance would become stiffer.

Explorer Writes Bedtime Tales He Found On Travels

AP Features

DENVER—A lifetime of expeditions into far corners of the world as explorer and movie cameraman is a paint pot of experience in which Jean M. F. Dubois now is dipping to write native tales for children.

They are the bedtime stories of such places as Central and South America, Africa, Australia, Dutch Guiana, the Dutch East Indies, India, Burma and even the American Indian reservations.

Born in Sumatra, the son of the famed anthropologist, Eugene Dubois, discoverer of the Java ape man, he was educated in the Netherlands and sent upon his first expedition, alone, at 21.

Dubois is writing five books and illustrating them with pen and ink drawings. There will be more than 50 tales.

"These stories have been told me by parents or the children themselves in out-of-the-way places the world over," says Dubois.

"For example, there is the Arabian legend of what makes the donkey such a sour fellow."

"A little Arabian boy told me that when Nazrah Nuh (Noah) told the animals to go to the ark, the donkey scooted off by himself."

"Nazrah Nuh reprimanded him but when the donkey sulked, Nazrah Nuh lost his temper and shouted: 'Go your own way then! And may the devil go with you!'"

"Shortly after the Ark floated and Nazrah Nuh was making the rounds to see if all the animals were happy when he spied the devil. 'How did you get here?' he demanded."

"On your invitation," responded the devil insolently. "I came with the donkey!"

"So Nazrah Nuh hunted out the donkey and reprimanded him unmercifully for having saved the devil from the floods."

"And now every time the donkey sees a man approach he believes he is about to be reprimanded once more about the devil."

as having some difficulty in maving up for a direct blow upon Minsk because of the large number of captives crowding the roads.

Of fighting in the city of Borisov, main military center northeast of Minsk and the Nazis' biggest defense point before the city, Red Star Correspondent Yakof Militsky said "one street after another is being captured."

It appeared that before the end of the day Marshal Rokossovsky's First army and Gen. Georg Zakharov's Second army would join Chernenkovsky's Third army before the gates of Minsk. It was difficult to say whether the Russians will attempt to storm the city with a frontal assault or try to break into it from the rear, as the Red army often does.

There was every sign the Germans were trying to hold Minsk and there was the possibility that the high command, with the aid of the Gestapo and storm troops, may create enough order to stand behind the long prepared and excellently built defenses.

The Russians asserted 183,930 of Hitler's eastern front soldiers had been killed or captured in the first week of the new drive.

FDR Signs Supply Bill To Aid Nation's Allies

WASHINGTON, July 1.—President Roosevelt signed yesterday a $3,920,320,000 supply bill to finance aid to the nation's Allies during the fiscal year starting tomorrow.

The lion's share of the total, approximately $3,450,500,000, is earmarked for the lend-lease program, with the rest allocated to the Foreign Economic Administration (FEA) and the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration (UNRRA).

In addition to the new funds granted lendlease, the legislation authorizes the use of nearly $4,000,000,000 of funds previously appropriated, thus giving the program more than $7,000,000,000 for its activities during the vital war year ahead.

Theatre Attractions

Dana Andrews, Constance Dowling and Danny Kaye in a scene from Samuel Goldwyn's latest technicolor musical triumph, "Up In Arms."

The latest screen musical, "Up In Arms," starring a new comedy favorite, Danny Kaye, will be the State theatre attraction Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

In technicolor, the musical gives leading romantic roles to Dana Andrews, the flight leader of "Up In Arms," and Constance Dowling, Singstress Dinah Shore has a featured role opposite the Broadway star.

Showing Wednesday only at the State is a new Dr. Gillespie story, "Three Men in White," with Lionel Barrymore as the famed diagnostician, Van Johnson and Keye Luke as his new assistants and Marilyn Maxwell again as the first young doctor's blonde heart trouble.

Charles Boyer, Ingrid Bergman and Joseph Cotten have the stellar roles in "Gaslight," dramatic story of an unscrupulous adventurer's attempt to drive his wife insane to hide his own past. The film shows at the State Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The Grand's bill Sunday and Monday includes: "The Navy Way," with Robert Lowery, Bill Henry, Jean Parker and Roscoe Karns; and a murder-mystery, "The Scarlet Claw," with Basil Rathbone as Sherlock Holmes and Nigel Bruce as Dr. Watson.

A double bill Tuesday and Wednesday features: "Hot Rhythm" with Dona Drake, Robert Lowery, Timand Irene, Sidney Miller and Jerry Cooper; and "Lady In The Death House," with Jean Parker, Douglas Fowley, Lionel Atwill, Marcia Mae Jones and Robert Middleton.

Timken employees gathered in an afternoon-long meeting yesterday to hear their leaders read back-to-work orders from the national and regional agencies. The men, who stopped work Wednesday in protest to what union spokesmen termed "a breakdown in labor relations," reached no agreement on complying with the orders, officials indicated.

Company spokesmen declared the 9,000 idle workers represented "virtually all Timken's production employees," with only about 1,000 maintenance men, foremen and supervisory employees remaining on duty.

Commence Work On Ball Field Monday

LEETONIA, July 1.—Grading work is scheduled to get under way on the Booster club's softball diamond project Monday evening when the field will be plowed preparatory to taking off the rough sod and roots and leveling the site. Columbiana County Engineer Charles O. Snyder, has inspected the field and has agreed to let the Booster club rent sufficient county grading equipment to do the job.

Several cars of ashes will be sent here by the Pennsylvania railroad, free of charge, to be used to fill the large depression on the south side of the field. The town trucks will deliver the ashes. The Booster club meeting, scheduled for the first Wednesday of the month, will be postponed until July 12.

Pvt. David Patterson of Tyndall field, Fla., is spending a 15-day furlough with his wife, Kathryn and his mother, Mrs. Ethel Patterson. Mrs. Clyde Patterson of Sandusky is spending the week with her mother-in-law.

Patrick Mango, U. S. N., New York City, is spending a seven-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Mango.

TRAFFIC TOLL IN U. S. SHOWS GAIN

(By Associated Press) CHICAGO, July 1.—War-traffic in the United States took toll of 8,400 lives in the first five months of 1944, the National Safety council said today, an increase of 11 per cent—about 1,000 lives—over the corresponding period of 1943.

Increased motor vehicle traffic was responsible for part of the growing traffic toll, the council said, adding that motor vehicle mileage was up six per cent in the first four months this year, compared with the same period a year ago.

Of 41 states which reported statistics for the first five months of 1944, increased fatalities were shown in 30, decreases in nine and no change in two states.

All regions of the country showed increases over 1943, the council said, except the Pacific coast, which showed no change. North Central states reported the greatest increase, with the south central region second.

There were 286 cities with perfect records during May, the council said. The largest was Columbus, O., with Richmond, a second and Syracuse, N. Y., third. For the five months period 135 cities had perfect records, the three largest being Portland, Me., New Britain, Conn. and Cleveland Heights, O., respectively.

SEEK NATURAL GAS IN EASTERN OHIO

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, July 1.—Eastern Ohio may become the source of a new supply of natural gas, needed for war.

William E. Wraether, director of the Interior department's geologic survey, said additional production could be obtained from the second Berea sand, one of the important gas-producing sands in Gallia, Meigs, Athens, Morgan and Mingo counties.

The area constitutes a long lens-like body extending for more than 80 miles north-northeast and ranging from 3 to 15 miles in width.

A special report by Wraether shows that most of the best gas wells are in the thicker parts of the sand body. The most promising area of potential production are along the west of the belt of greatest thickness of the sands, says the report.
